THE REGION

Where Atlantic elegance meets island soul

Charente-Maritime is France's sunniest Atlantic department — a landscape of estuaries, oyster beds, and maritime pines that has drawn artists, writers, and discerning travellers for over a century.

Royan's curved Belle Époque seafront opens onto the Gironde estuary, while Île d'Oléron — France's second-largest island — offers wild beaches, cycling trails, and a slower rhythm of coastal life.

Heritage

Romanesque churches, Cordouan lighthouse, oyster cabanes

Climate

2,250+ sunshine hours — France's sunniest Atlantic coast

Lifestyle

Slow mornings, long lunches, sunset oysters

Architecture

Belle Époque villas, pine-shaded terraces, island cottages
